Reducing emissions by reducing waste

Farmers' Clubs reducing food waste

- Farmers' Clubs all over the world reduce crop waste, here with a traditional but efficient grain storage system. Altogether such systems reduce food waste and thereby the emissions connected with food production.

- Another way to reduce food waste is by processing the crops, such as these Zimbabwean farmers do by making peanut butter.

Crops such as moringa leaves or pieces of cassava can also be dried to last much longer. Here the solar drier at Frontline Institute, Zimbabwe.
